Responsible Evolution means we are changing our working practices to ensure we are operating the least damaging, most responsible way possible

We've challenged ourselves to increase the use of recycled and responsible materials to protect our environment. We never stand still when it comes our footwear and have remade our most iconic styles to use more responsible and recycled materials. In our SS23 collection we have made big steps towards our goal of using responsible materials across all our products. Making quality footwear with recycled materials helps us to make a difference. We factor in responsible materials from the beginning of the design process we can increasingly adopt more of them in each style that we make. Using recycled plastics helps us reduce waste and give a new life to something that may otherwise have been wasted.

We are constantly looking for ways to maximize recycled content; from the constructional materials we use through to uppers and laces. From autumn this year, you will see our first styles using recycled plastics. From bottle to upper, we're working to reduce plastic waste. Learn more about how we're trying to reduce our impact and protect our planet one step at a time:
